Don't let the 1% close your Post Office!

Save 200,000 Union JOBS!

Harriet Tubman — Black Heritage USA 13c

The billionaire class and their stooges in Congress want to close 4,000 post offices and fire 200,000 hardworking employees.

In New York City alone, Postmaster General Donahue wants to eliminate 34 post offices. Seniors and disabled people will have to walk miles to mail a package.

Donahue also wants to eliminate Saturday deliveries. You'll have to wait until Monday to get your vital medicine or check.

These cutbacks aren't necessary. Postal workers delivered nearly 168 billion pieces of mail last year.

Wall Street wants the postal system sold off to corporate vultures. We won't let them!

Privatizing the post office will open the door to privatizing Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid.

Join Community/Labor United for Postal Jobs & Services. We can win this fight.

Join the caravans from every borough and Long Island going to the 33rd Street General Post Office in Manhattan on Sat., March 17.

We will be commemorating the great postal strike of 1970, when postal workers and the entire labor movement defeated President "Watergate" Nixon.

We need to revive that militant tradition. Saving postal jobs and postal services is the first step to fighting for jobs for all.

Stop Union Busting, Privatization & Racism!

Join the caravans and rally at the General Post Office 33rd St. & 8th Ave.
(Manhattan, take the A, C, E trains to Penn Station)
