MAY DAY 2015

May 1st • Union Square
3pm Assemble • 5:30pm March

May 1st, 1886: Strikers demand an 8 hour workday at Haymarket Square in Chicago. In response, they are shot at by police, a bomb is thrown, and the protest organizers are executed by court order.

Fall 2014: Police murder of Mike Brown, Akai Gurley, Eric Garner, and countless black and brown people sparks a rebellion beginning in Ferguson and spreading to cities across the country and the world. Police respond with violence and continue to blame the victims while they get away with murder every day.

FROM 1886 to 2015, MAY DAY HAS BEEN ROOTED IN A STRUGGLE AGAINST POLICE TERROR AND THE CAPITALIST STATE. Police murder black and brown people and the corrupt judicial system does nothing. Corporations deny workers dignity and rights and provide only poverty wages. Migrant workers are labeled criminals and forced to work in dangerous conditions for slave wages.

This May Day, we ALL must take the streets. As workers, as women, as people of color, as immigrants, as students, as homeless, as tenants - from Ayotzinapa to Ferguson, from Palestine to NYC - we come together on May 1st from many diverse struggles, places, & backgrounds to stand UNITED and say ENOUGH.
